BISMARCK ON THE EUROPEAN SITUATION. LONDON, 25th January. Prince Bismarck, in course of conversation, has stated that he is tolerably confident that a European war will be avoided this year, and he hoped for a longer period. (From the Times of Ceylon.) THE PRIME MINISTER AT LIVERPOOL LONDON, Jan. 12. Lord Salisbury visited Liverpool yesterday, and was accorded a most splendid reception. His lordship made a telling speach in reply to Mr Gladstone's recent utterances, and said that the union of England and Ireland was a necessity to both countries. He also strongly questioned the fiscal policy initiated by Mr Gladstone, though, at the same time, he thought it would be unwise to disturb it.

London, January 13.

The following fuller details of Lord Salisbury's speech at Liverpool have been received :- His lordship said that the cloud that enshrouded Ireland was now slowly lifting, and people were gradually learning that the will of Great Britain was not to be shaken nor trifled with. He was confident that a revival of trade generally would take vernment during the next session would be one of unusual difficulty, owing to the antagonistic state of the various pelitical solution of Parliament would take place pending the development of the results of proved, and he foresaw peace, though the permanence of that state of peace could not able conflict between Italy and Abyasinia, and highly sulogized the mission of peace to courage, and the failure of which was due at half mast. solely to the misguided counsels which had influenced the Negue; but he hoped that Italy would show due moderation when her wounded honor had been satisfied.

TEA AND COFFEE IN FIJI. — Late advices from Fiji report that the export of tea and coffee from those islands is still on the increase. When the late Mr. J. E. Mason, the founder of the Alpha and Delta estates on Tairuni, first essayed the introduction of the ten-plant, many people ridiculed what certainly appeared at the time to be a rather Quixotic venture: But Mr. Mason brought to his work a big heart and a sound head, with the result that to-day the cultivation of tea is looked upon as one of the enfest and best-paying industries in the little Oolony .- Indian Planters' Gazette.

> Lunch and Legislation seem to be closely associated in Mauritius. In the proceedings of the Council of Government the following extraordinary passage is reported: - M. E. Antelme withdrew the following questions: Whether it is to the knowledge of Government that under the administration of Sir John Pope Hennessy, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of Mauritius and its Dependencies, the members of Council entrusted with inquiries were properly treated and wanted nothing in regard to their lunch? Whether it was by Government authority that Mr Angus, Acting Store keeper General, was guilty of sending to Beau Bassin on the 14th instant, 18 sandwiches and 18 small cakes—the whole enclosed in paper-without either napkins, plates, knives or glasses? Such lunch being intended for five elected members composing part of a Committee entrusted with the examination of certain public works."

THE Shanshai Merceiry Bays :- Wo are informed by Mr. H. H. Joseph, the local agent of the Peninsular and Oriental S. N. Coninany, that, commencing with the Ballaurat, to leave on the 11th proxime, the company's steamers conveying the mails from this port are to be despatched at daylight on Saturdays, and that the time of departure from Hongkong will be daylight on the following Thursday. The alteration in the date of departure of the steamers is made under the terms of the new contract recently entered into for the conveyance of the mails. The time-table for 1888, cmbodying the accelerated service, was approved by the British Postmaster-General on the 2nd instant, and co, ies for distribution will therefore probably arrive here by the mail due on the 27th March. In the meantime it is not known what day is fixed for despatch of mails during the S. W. monsoon, which commences in April.

The question of the French protectorate over Catholic Christians in the East is again undergoing strain. The attitude of China on this important question is inexplicable except on the theory that her best known and most enlightened statesmen have become converts to the principle of the di vided allegiance of Chinese Catholics. Two years ago China made a decided movement towards emancipating her Christian subjects from foreign control, but within the last twelve months the Tsung-li Yamén has abandoned the ground then occupied, and has virtually restored the protectorate Why? The secret history of the judicial murder of Lo at Chunghing might perhaps shed some light on this question, and the semi-official intercourse between M. Constans and certain members of the Tsung-li Yamen would also perhaps help to clucidate the situation, which, as it stands. looks like a-reversal of the fundamental policy of the Chinese Government.—Chinese Accomping to the Chinese Times, the Government at Peking are beginning to undertake the opening of mines in different parts of the Empire. It says that the Pingtu gold mines in Shantung are to be worked on regular methods, which has not hitherto been done. The copper mines of Pingch'tian Chou, and the Jeho galena mines are now to be submitted to the best modern' metallurgical processes under the competent direction of Mr. Church, who is provided with an ample outfit of pumping machinery. apparatus, and capital. The experiment he superintends will be watched in its progress with interest, and if he -as we hope and expect—brings his labours to a successful issue, mining enterprise in China will be greatly stimulated, and the gold fields of Manchuria, the iron and coal mines of Shensi, Shansi, and Chihli, and the vast copper lodes of Yunnan, will be worked not only with the approval but at the instance of the provincial authorities.

THE NEUTRALIBATION OF 'THE ROCK.'-Schor Moret has declared in the Spanish House of Deputies that the Madrid Government had not opened negotiations with Forei n Powers for the neutralisation of the Straits of Gibraltar. El Globo, the organ of Senor Castelar, has published an article by a Spaniard who visited Gibraltar recently. He confesses that he had some trouble to do it, but he did defeat the vigilance of the British officials and Military authorities to such an extent that he is able to give the fullest details, technical, topographical, and strategical, about the British lines of fortifications, their armoment, the calibre and class of guns in each battery, the barrack life, and the system of the defences. This article (says the Standard correspondent) forms part of a series in which the Spanish cosat defences on both shores of the Straits are described with a view to excite the Government and the Cortes to put them in better condition, especially those of Couta and Algesiras. The style of the article indicates that the writer is a military man, CERTAIN circles in Scotland have been more or less exercised of late about the words of Burns's well-known song ! The deil's awa! wi' th' exciseman.' For the unfortunate excisemen himself no pity is pretended. Officials of this class are not popular in Scotland. But it is the name, which should hever be mentioned in ears polite, to which exception is taken, and a demand has been made for an expurgated edition of the song, in which the deil should be replaced by, say, the police, or some other harmless individual of unexceptional moral character. The complaint has aroused the writh of Professor Blackie, who is sorry to observe that some people are so destitute of the Scottish virtue of humour as to oul Burns's comic song about the exciseman blasphemoua. Such laumake religion ridiculous, and Scotsmen contemptible. Furthermore - As for per-Bons in 's fashionable society" who despise their native Scotch songs, and prefer to sock their weak stomachs with the sentimental syllabubs of the London market, One can only pity them, and pray for their conversion to a better mind. PRIVILEGES TO FORKION MAIL STEAMERS,-The Times of Ceulon referring to the recent agitation on this subject says :-- It has been stated that the action of the Colonial Office, in coercing the legislatures of various colonies in this mutter, is only giving a quic pro quo, inasmuch as English mail steamers are accorded the status and privilege of men-of-war whon in French or Italian ports. We, however, should much like to have this assertion verified, and doubtless Captain Bayley would inform us how far this is the case with steamers of this Company at Brindisi and Marseilles. But even if were so, the advantages conceded by Great Britain in this matter would far outweigh what she receives, for the English ports at which French and Gormans touch are very numerous, whereas Brindisi and Marseilles are the only ports at which our mail steamors touch on the Continent of Europe. We hope, now that the Times has taken the matter up, that the Colonial Office will not attempt to renew the Ordinance on its ex-

The Colon es and India has the following para, on the matter :—It may be remembered that the Chamber of Commerce at Hongkong protested last year against giving privileges in British ports to foreign vessels which enalled them to compete on favorable terms with those under the British flag ngainst, in fact, preferential legislation in favor of foreign and against British vessols—and that a circular was sent to all tho colonial Chambers of Commerce with a view to securing combined action on the subject. There is a great deal to be said for the stand made on this subject by British traders in the Colonies, where the old fashioned principle of 'standing up' for British interests is more popular than it appears to be in the Old Country.

That the Bill for the Registration of Imports and Exports may not be a direct interference with the freedom of the Port. but it is so much a step towards that which invites the most rigid weighing of advantages and disadvantages.

That the onus of proving that this Bill will be worth all the trouble and expense involved in carrying out its provisions, and in utilising the returns made, falls upon the Government, or the other supporters of the measure.

That the Chamber of Commerce, although it appears to have put its imprimatur on the Bill somehow or other, may be trusted to put its finger upon any objectionable features of the Bill, and may probably be able to get at the Chinese view of the matter,

That, even if the Bill were to pass, it i vory doubtful whether it can ever be carried into effect-as this enforcing of penalties for statistical purposes wil never be driven into the heads of Chinese merchants or junk-owners.

That, as Mr Price said, the obstructions were no booner removed than they were again put into the verandahs; and it seems a bad policy to give way thus to native obstinacy, and expect success by merely passing a new law.

That the Postmaster General is a hardly. used man after all, and we must, instead of scolding him, build him a palatial new Post Office, which shall be a big thing of beauty and a roomy joy for ever.

That it is pleasant to contemplate that, with a large new Post Office, say near the City Hall, no more Kobs mails will be despatched by the wrong steamers, and no more letters will be kept back for double postage, but that all shall be bar. monious and smooth, with three deliveries a day to Kowloong and the Peak, and peace and a C.B. on retirement.

Before Mr Wodehouse in the Police Court this morning Fung Yuk Hung, residing at 80 Winglok Street, was charged. at the instance of Mr A. S. Huoper, valuator of Police and Lighting rates, with having knowingly furnished the valuer in form "A" specified in the schedule of Ordinance 20, 1885, Section V, false of incorrect particulars relating to tenements of which he is the owner within the meaning of the Ordinance. Mr Ho Wysun, who | trol the bulk of the trade. -- Yours, appeared for the defendant, said the charge was admitted, but he wished to make a statement in extenuation

Mr Hooper said-Ou the 9th and 10th schedule of the Rating Ordinance were addressed to Wing Wong, 81 Busham Strand; Chan Kan, 80 Bonbam Strand; Fung Cheung, 113 Bonham Strand; and Young Tak Shap, 69 and 101 Winglok Street. The total annual a wholesome warning to others, but rents according to this statement would be $3,600, instead of $3,400 as previously returned. Although this is but a small difference it is a petty system of fraud which is more difficult to find out than where the who have a sharp and effective method amount involved is larger, and it is a sufficient percentage to make a great difference in the assessment where the practice is genoral. Assuming that I had taken defer dant's figures as given in the returns it would make total difference next year of $26, besides misleading me with regard to tonements owned by other people. I asked the defendant why he had put the wrong figures in the forms, and he said he had

> Mr Hooner-No, he gave me the amended particulars when I told him I did not believe the rents were correctly stated. Mr Ho Wysun-And he asked you to give him permission to alter them?

Mr Hooper-No, he did not.

Mr Ho Wysun (to the Magistrate)-Dofendant maintains that he asked for permission to correct the figures. The defence is that defendant is not the proper agent but his assistant. The proper agent was at the time away from the Colony, and lose sight of the question of a direct Bri. seeing that the forms must be returned within a certain time defendant filled exact amounts, but thinking that the plished much cheaper now than it could fractional part of a hundred might be omitted he filled these figures in. As soon as he was told by Mr Hooper that the full amount must be stated he gave him the right figures. If your Worship thinks it necessary, I shall call the prop r agent to prove that he was away, and that the defendant had no knowledge of the precise amount of rent for each house."

His Worship-Why did he fill them in Mr Ho Wysun-He knew something about it, but he did not know the right am unt, and he thought the fractional part of a hundred might be left out. His Worship (to Mr Hooper)-Are you satisfied with that explanation Mr Hooper-No, your Worship It appears that he knew there was a fractional part of a hundred. If the agent was away and defendant acted for him in his absence, he was really the agent for the time. The forms were sent on the 9th and 10th and were not teturned till the 23rd, so that it was not his anxiety to get the forms in soon that led him to fill them in as he did. On each form itself and the notice attached it is stated most distinctly what is required, and besides great publicity has been given to cases similar to this. Mr Ho Wysun-In all the cases delendent has simply stated the rent in round figures without regard to the fractional part of a hundred; and as he has stready admitted his negligence I think your Worship will take the circumstances into considera-

His Worship-I am not disposed to regard the case as a serious one. What do you say, Mr Hooper ?

Mr Hooper-My instructions are to ask for a substantial penalty, because Chinese house proprietors and their agents are well aware of what is required, and it is a piece of good luck when this sort of thing is ound out. It is done to a large extent. and it is only now and again we can get sufficient evidence to prove our cases. His Worship-I must say, looking at the evidence, it does not appear to me to be a very bad case and the excuse seems more or less reasonable. It does not seem that there w s any intention to defraud, beyond what is involved in omitting the fraction. How much were the figures out ! Mr Hooper-In the case of the first house $20, the 2nd $60, the 3rd $80, the 4th 820 and the 5th 820. His Worship-From your general knowledge of these things you are disposed to believe it to have been deliberate?

Mr Hooper-I do, most certainly. Worship that the mistake was not found out by Mr Hooper, but was acknowledged hy the defendant.

London, Dec. 24 .- The London correspondent of the New York World telegraphs with reference to the Prince of Walcs' connection with the slogger Sullivan as follows :- Consequences of princely indisoretion have, however, been very disastrous. I know on the best authority that it has called from the Queen the teverest reprimand that the Prince has received from that quarter since the Mordaunt ecandal. and the result, I hear, is that Christmas greetings will not pass between Sandringham and Osborne to morrow. In fact the Prince has been down on his luck lately. personally and pocuniarily. He was interested in the Smith-Kirain fight and requested a bookmaker who was to be present at the fight to send him at the earliest moment a telegraphic account of the mill. The message came to Marlborough House, and was by some mistake forwarded to Windsor, where the Prince had gone to pay a farewell visit to the Queen before her departure for Osborne. The Prince was out walking with some friends in Windsor forest when the huge bundle of telegrams arrived. Fearing ill news from the Princess Maude, who has been unwell ever since her measles at Fredenburg, the Queen opened the dispatch and read a brillantly written description of the battle. On the return of the Prince there is said to have taken place a very undignified and unpleasant scene. LABOUCHERE'S GOSSIP. Duke Sparta, eldest son of King of the Greeks, who has been studying at Leipsic, is to come to England about the end of May, with the ultimate object of being betrothed to one of the daughters of the Prince of Wales. The Duke was born in July, 1868. This is one of the results of the great family gathering at Federicksburg. There was a strange scene a few days ago at a sale in Edinburgh. An old and ordinary copy of the Bible was put up. Bidding went on between two ladies until the incredible price of £160 was reached. when the hammer fell amidst foud cheers. The Bible, the intrinsic value of which was perhaps, half a crown, had belonged to a deceased relative of the ladies, each of whom determined to obtain it.

I have reason to believe that startling and most cogent evidence both of turf malpractice and flagrant breaches of the laws of racing, especially those relating to the ownership of horses by jockeys, is in possession of the Stewards' Jockey Club, whose thunderbolts are likely to descend in quite unsuspected quarters. I am informed that the riding licemen of at least two fashionable jeckeys will be withdrawn.
